Burglary probe revealed £20,000 cannabis farm

POLICE who went to investigate a suspected burglary at the home of a Skelmersdale man found he had a secret cannabis farm with a crop worth £20,000 on the streets of Merseyside.

The occupant, Lee Hennessey, claimed that the drugs were all for his own use but Liverpool Crown Court heard on Tuesday, (September 27) that was not accepted by the prosecution.

Claire Jones, prosecuting, told how officers went to his flat in Beechtrees on February 17 this year after reports of a burglary. "They found the premises insecure and any offenders had left but they located a cannabis farm."

There were 19 cannabis plants with a potential yield of 1,459 grammes which had a street value of up to £20,000, she said.

29-year-old Hennessey was not present but he was contacted and interviewed. He admitted it was has operation and said the plants were for his own use.

The court heard that he has a previous conviction for possessing cannabis in 2005.

David Lacide, defending, said that Hennessey, who has a young daughter, has ADHD and anger management problems but is in employment. He has been using cannabis for years but now "appreciates it is not the way to address his mental health issues."

Hennessey, now of Elswick, Skelmersdale, pleaded guilty to cultivating cannabis.

The judge, Recorder Mary Loram, sentenced him to 18 months imprisonment suspended for two years. She also ordered him to carry out 80 hours unpaid work and to attend 20 days rehabilitation activities and pay £200 prosecution costs.

Placing him under supervision for 18 months she added that he could benefit from the help of the probation service "but it is up to you whether you take that help."

CALL TO DEMOLISH DERELICT PUB

Report by Henry James

RESIDENTS living near a disused former pub are calling for it to be demolished after labelling it a potential 'death trap'.

The former Almond Tree in Digmoor was badly damaged in a fire more than a year ago but the shell of the building remains standing.

Neighbours have reported children playing in the building - which is only yards away from a playground - and fear it is only a matter of time before someone is seriously hurt there.

And they have also expressed concerns that debris from the former pub on Abbeystead could actually fall onto the nextdoor play area and injure youngsters.

At the time of the suspected arson attack on the pub in April 2015 developers Blackburn Property Ltd. had received planning permission to build 12 flats on the site.

Now the plot is listed for sale on the Internet and adverstised as being with planning permission.

One local resident 73-year-old Arthur Casey, said: "The derelict burnt-out pub is very dangerous and kids have been playing on it.

"The owners should be pulling the building down because someone is going to get hurt there, do we have to wait until that happens?

"It is now more than 12 months since the fire and children have been in and caused further damage to it. There are locks on the building but it would not take long to take them off.

"I am worried about what could happen as the roof is not safe. I pass it every day and make sure no youngsters are on the building.

"But kids have no fear and they are often unaware of the dangers they could face playing on a structure like this.

"The place should have been knocked down ages ago. There's no point fencing it off, it would just be as quick to knock it down.

"It is also nextdoor to a children's playground and I am worried that tiles will come off the roof and could hit youngsters playing there.

"It also makes the area look rundown. It's a real eyesore."

The Champion contacted Blackburn Property Ltd. but at the time of going to press they had not responded to our request for a comment.

A spokesman for West Lancs Council commented: "The Almond Tree site is privately owned. The council has taken action a number of times in the last two years after receiving calls from the public and the fire brigade regarding this building.

"On six occasions the council fulfilled its legal obligations by making the groundfloor of the property secure and sent a bill to the property owner.

"On another occasion the council contacted the property owner's representative who secured the building, and on another occasion there was no need for the council to take any action.

"In addition to these occasions, the council officers have visited the site this week and found the groundfloor of the building to be secure.

"Outline planning permission has recently been granted for 12 residential flats to be built on the site.

"The council will continue to monitor complaints about the building."

Do you have what it takes to be a county councillor?

Lancashire seeking potential new candidates to stand in 2017 elections

Report by Henry James

DO you think you've got what it takes to be a county councillor?

If so, Lancashire County Council want to hear from you.

The county council is holding local elections in May 2017 and new candidates are needed to represent their areas. There will be 84 seats up for grabs in the 12 Lancashire district areas.

Jo Turton, chief executive of Lancashire County Council, said: "If you care about the area that you live or work in and the issues facing local people, we need you.

"You don't need any special qualifications or experience to be a county councillor, skills gained through raising a family, volunteering or being active in faith or community groups can be just as valuable.

"The role is a privileged position which allows you to make a real difference to people's daily lives.

"Councillors have three main roles - to represent the people in their local area and listen to their views; to make decisions about how the council is run, what services should be provided, and how money is spent; and to provide community leadership so that different organisations all work together to make their area a better place.

"If you think you could be a voice for your community and would like to be involved in shaping decisions which will affect local residents, we want to hear from you.

"We are inviting people who are interested in standing to come along to one of our information events in October and find out more."

Information events will be held on Monday, October 10 and Tuesday, October 25 at County Hall, Preston, where anyone interested is welcome to go along to find out what's involved and how you could become a county councillor.

Jo Turton chief executive of Lancashire County Council

Both events start at 5.30pm and there will be presentations on a day in the life of a councillor, what support is available, and what you need to know about the election process.

There will also be the opportunity to speak informally to council officers, district electoral officers and members of the Local Government Association.

You can register your interest in attending an event or find out more by visiting www.beacouncillor.co.uk/lancashire.

If you are unable to attend an event, the website provides details on the next steps to take.

Police urged to clamp down on off-road bike nuisance

AN Ashurst resident has called for police to clamp down on off-road bikers who he says are riding through the woods near his home and causing a noise nuisance till late at night.

The man, who does not want to be named for fear of reprisals, says the bikers are a danger to local residents and also to themselves.

He said: "I can hear them every night. The beautiful woodland by us is plagued by these bikers.

"You can't sit in your garden and enjoy some peace and quiet because these bikers are ruining the area.

"On weekends when the weather is nice it's worse than ever. If you wanted to just sit in the garden you would need ear plugs!

"You can hear them in the week at night as well. I think there are about three or four of them.

"I have spoken to other neighbours and they don't like it either. These bikers are a danger to themselves and people walking about and I doubt if they are insured either."

Police in Skelmersdale have been tackling motorcycle nuisance in and around the town through an initiative called Operation Strike.

They have placed Section 59 warnings around the town, informing the public that the misuse of off-road bikes or quads on specified public areas is against the law and that the bike will be seized.

There have also been plain clothes and high-visibility police patrols with the aim of detecting any crimes associated with motorcycle nuisance.

In March police issued an appeal in the Champion to help find the yobs who are using off-road bikes in an anti-social way and causing noise problems. At that time there was an increase in complaints of off-road bikes being ridden in an anti-social way and there were reports of bikes being stolen.

Anyone with any information is asked to call Crimestoppers on 0800 555 11, or the police on 101.

Some of the pupils from Skelmersdale and Up Holland who took part in the Schools Pupil Parliament with West Lancs Mayor Councillor Liz Savage and her consort Councillor Noel Delaney.

Primary pupils get lessons in democracy

A NUMBER of primary schools from the SHARES Skelmersdale & Up Holland Pupil Parliament took part in a pupil parliament session in the council chamber at West Lancs Borough Council's offices inn Derby Street, Ormskirk.

The event was organised by SHARES and opened with the Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Liz Savage telling the children about her role and how it works. Each school sent along two pupils

The children then went on to vote for a Prime Minister for their Pupil Parliament.

Candidates gave a speech about why they should be elected as the Prime Minister.

The children could also decide who they wanted as Deputy PM and Secretary.

The children then all voted for who they wanted in a secret ballot.

A polling booth and ballot box was set up and council staff assisted with the process, even designing special ballot papers.

Once all the votes had been counted the results were announced.

Brave Leeanne inspires Thomas to tackle marathon fundraiser

Report by Henry James

A SKELMERSDALE man has been inspired by the story of cancer sufferer Leeanne Conteh, featured in the Champion earlier this year, to take part in his fourth marathon to raise money for the Marina Dalglish Appeal.

Thomas McDermott will line up in the Chester Marathon on Sunday, October 2 and he is hoping that local people will sponsor him to help swell funds for the worthy cause.

The 28-year-old was inspired to don his running shoes again after reading about Leeanne who learned she had a grade three stage two tumour in her breast in February of this year and underwent a mastectomy and chemotherapy at Aintree University Hospital.

Since then she has raised more than £7,000 for the Marina Dalglish Appeal to fund a treatment room at the charity's new cancer care centre in Liverpool.

Thomas, who works at Flowtechnology UK in Skelmersdale, has set himself a target of £775.

He said: "Coming from a small but close town, whenever there is bad news everyone knows about it. We all pretty much know or know of each other in one way or another.

"In the last few years, our town has had more than its fair share of bad news, but with this bad news also comes great community strength and spirit. Everyone from Skem will understand what I'm talking about.

"Back in February another young girl in this town, Leeanne Conteh, was diagnosed with grade three breast cancer. At the time of diagnosis it had already spread to her lymph nodes. Her treatment started straight away with a full mastectomy, chemotherapy and she is currently undergoing radiotherapy.

"The biggest shock to me was when I learned that, even though Leeanne at 29 years old had just been dealt this devastating blow, she bravely threw herself immediately into fundraising for the hospital that was treating her."

The Chester Marathon sees runners passing all the city's iconic landmarks, such as the Roman Walls and the cathedral.

Leeanne Conteh and Thomas McDermott

Thomas added: "Training and taking part in marathons is something I've always loved doing.

"However, it also takes a massive amount of effort, time and dedication. I've had a busy two years, especially becoming a dad to three amazing boys . As you can imagine finding energy, time and motivation can be tough.

"But Leeanne's story was definitely the motivation and inspiration I was looking for to get me through this marathon.

"The money I raise will be going towards Leeanne's fantastic funds for a brand new treatment centre where cancer patients can visit for a much-needed relaxing pamper treatment and chill-out time plus support from staff and other patients.

"Please dig deep and help me reach my target for this worthy cause."

Trio's £50,000 charity target

A TRIO of local charity fundraisers are aiming to hit the £50,000 mark when they stage their annual event at St James's Social Club, Up Holland on Friday, September 30.

Over the last few years Kath McGuire, Edith Berry and Anne Hurst have raised £41,590 for Macmillan Cancer Support.

Now they are hoping their latest event will take them over the magical £50,000, with thanks to more than a little help from their friends, family and local businesses and farmers who have supported their efforts .

Tickets for the event, which starts at 7pm, are priced £5 and attraction on the night will include the Burscough Wharf Ukuele Band, the Chris Woolfenden School of Dance and Olivia Garcia. There will also be vegetable, cake, fancy goods and plant stalls.

Air Cadets open doors to public

THE 1439 Skelmersdale Air Cadets are opening their doors to the public this Saturday, October 1.

From noon onwards members of the public are being invited to go along and see what the RAF Air Cadets do.

They have organised a Grand Event at the grounds of the squadron's base at Leah House, Daniels Lane, where people can come and join in some of the activities like first aid, drill, camp craft and field craft, and even be able to sit in an aircraft cockpit.

Visitors will also be able to try their hand at camouflage face painting and there will be aviation kits to look and interact with.

Sarah O'Sullivan from the cadets said: "We will have experienced squadron staff and cadets ready to speak to you and sign up any potential new recruits about joining this fantastic organisation.

Motivated

"We want to showcase our community connections with young people and the programmes of activities and adventures that can help the youth of Skelmersdale become more confident and motivated individuals, while learning skills to help them in their future careers.

"We will also have plenty of other things going on. We will have several fundraising stalls, games, fantastic cake stalls, a tombola, and a café. There will be face paintings and delicious hot-dogs.

Lancashire Fire & Rescue Service have promised to bring a fire engine along to the open day and officers from Lancashire Constabulary will be in attendance in a squad car.

"We hope to see lots of new people come and visit us this Saturday as it promises to be a great afternoon for all the family, so please come along and enjoy this fantastic opportunity to see what we have to offer you."

For more information telephone 01695 51603, or email: 1439@aircadets.org.

Skem Men-Aces celebrate after landing another award

THE Skem Men-Aces disability football team have scooped another honour after being presented with the Liverpool Echo Sports Team Award at a ceremony at the city's Titanic Hotel.

Mim Eaton, a coach with the team, said: "We attended the Liverpool Echo Sports awards in the iconic Titanic Hotel along with hundreds of other volunteers and groups, all of whom had wonderful stories to tell and who were all very much worthy of an award.

"The whole night was especially magical for Davie Cunningham, one of the Skem Men-Aces players, who went along to represent the team.

"He really enjoyed the colour, music, and atmosphere of the occasion - and the limelight!

"Skem Men-Aces were shortlisted alongside two other groups. When the shortlist was read out my heart was racing, then the envelope with the winner inside was passed over and it seemed an eternity before it was opened.

"And when Skem Men-Aces were read out as winners there was rapturous applause. I felt so humbled to be among some great people and celebrities.

Coach Mim Eaton and Davie Cunningham with the Skem Men-Aces' latest award

"This award means so much to the club and many thanks go out to the people of Merseyside.

"Our manager Carl Eaton was unwell, and wasn't able to attend the event but he watched it all unveil through Facebook, and he was so overwhelmed."

Care worker walks 90 miles in a week!

Eileen's marathon effort supports 'Caring Heroes' initiative

Report by Henry James

A SKELMERSDALE woman who decided to try using the pedometer offered to her by her employers as part of an initiative to raise awareness of the unseen work done by care workers clocked up nearly 90 miles walking in the first week.

Domestic assistant Elaine Philpott, who works for Birch Green Care Home - part of the Springhill Care Group - was surprised to find that she had covered more than 23,000 steps in one day.

This is more than double the NHS 10,000 steps-a-day challenge or five miles which is also running nationally.

The group handed out pedometers to all of its 400-plus staff to encourage them to take an interest in their fitness levels as part of its Caring Heroes initiative.

In the first week alone, Elaine made 178,000 steps, equivalent to almost 90 miles and averaging more than 17,000 steps per day as she went about her work supporting residents and helping with other domestic duties at the care home.

Elaine Philpott is stepping out

Elaine, who has worked at Birch Green since January 2015, said: "It's a great idea to assess how much you walk in a day. I hadn't really got a clue, and I had estimated that I did about 8,000 steps per day when we started it.

"I feel better knowing that I'm walking at least the 10,000 steps per day recommended by the NHS, and I'm aiming to make at least 15,000 steps per day longer term."

Staff will be able to set personal goals and to track them over time, and data collected will also help the care group understand how it can better support its employees.

The company is already operating a range of activities including offering staff healthy menu cards detailing easy and affordable recipes, and providing fresh fruit to encourage healthy eating.

Recently the group also launched a programme where its homes will be visited by a registered nurse offering staff assistance and advice on a range of topics including stress and anxiety, blood pressure and weight.

The health and wellbeing drive comes following the launch of the wider national Caring Heroes campaign by the group, designed to put care staff in the public spotlight and raise awareness of the important job they do.

To express support for its campaign, Springhill Care is asking people to tell their stories on Twitter using the hashtag #caringheroes.

Champ team smash fundraising target for cancer-fighting colleague

A TEAM of enthusiastic runners from the Champion have completed a 10k challenge to honour a cancer fighting colleague.

The 21 members of staff took on the Natterjack Seaside 10k in Southport to raise funds for the Royal and Broadgreen hospitals in Liverpool where Champ sales rep Steve Gainford received treatment.

Steve, 54, who is currently recovering from prostate cancer, was cheered across the line by his colleagues. And to date the team have far surpassed their targeted total of £1,500.

R-Charity is currently raising £10 million for the New Royal Liverpool Hospital to deliver world-class technologies and cutting-edge research.

Steve said: "It's not possible to sum up how happy and humbled I feel that the team at the Champ have come together to do this run and get as much money as possible for the R-Charity.

"I managed to complete the run along with my colleagues and I must say that I am feeling great.

"It was emotional to think so many people would give up their Sunday to support me and the R Charity. It's incredible and will live with me forever!"

Champion Newspapers MD Lyndsey Naylor, who also ran in the race, said: "I am immensely proud of all the staff who not only took part but who supported us on the day and with their donations - it was an amazing Champion Team effort!"

The Champ team ahead of their run

Group organiser Tracey Barlow commented: "This was an amazing effort from everyone who took part and also from all the supporters who came along on the day and cheered us on.

"It was emotional running with Stevie G and all cheering him across the line, particularly as he is still recovering from his operation. He truly was an inspiration to us all.

"Thanks to everyone who sponsored us, the money is still pouring in. It was a brilliant day for us all and superbly organised by Natterjack."

Old soldier's gift of life to a stranger

Skem veteran Eamonn revealed as one of UK's first 500 living kidney donors

Report by Henry James

A FORMER soldier from Skelmersdale was one of the first 500 people in the UK to donate a kidney to a stranger following a change in the law 10 years ago.

The names of the country's first 500 donors have been revealed by NHS Blood and Transplant and include 68-year-old Eamonn Byrne from Skelmersdale.

He said: "There are more than 5,000 people in need of a kidney in the UK and around 300 die needlessly every year. I felt it was my duty of care as a soldier to offer help where I could.

"Would I recommend it? Absolutely. It's a very satisfying thing to have done and after all one kidney is enough!"

Any healthy adult can volunteer to be assessed as a living donor. A kidney from a living donor is the best treatment option for most patients with kidney diseases.

The volunteer donor goes through a thorough assessment over several months to ensure they are fit and healthy and that the risk to them is as low as possible.

If approved, they are matched with a suitable recipient from the transplant waiting list, or they can also enter into a sharing scheme which enables one non-directed donor to potentially 'trigger' up to three transplants.

Bob Wiggins, chair of charity Give a Kidney which raises awareness of non-directed kidney donation, said: "We're encouraging everyone to consider if you could share your spare. Many people still don't know that any healthy adult can volunteer as a living donor.

"As a result of people like Eamonn, many hundreds of lives have been changed for the better. Not only that, but together this group has already saved the NHS tens of millions of pounds over the cost of keeping the recipients on dialysis treatment."

500 people in the UK have donated a kidney to someone they don't know.

Eamonn Byrne

Lisa Burnapp, lead nurse for Living Donation at NHS Blood and Transplant commented: "Nearly three hundred people died waiting for a kidney transplant last year.

"Living donation is highly successful, and hundreds of people have had their lives saved and transformed in reaching this milestone over the past decade, thanks to the incredible generosity of these donors. Through donor chains, up to three people can benefit from a single donation because it can trigger a chain of transplants. The more people who are willing to consider donating in this way, the more kidneys there are available to help everyone waiting for a transplant."

Family tribute to Somme victim Robert

FAMILY members of a Skelmersdale man who was killed during the Battle of the Somme made a poignant visit to the town's war memorial to mark the 100th anniversary of his death.

Robert Henry Margison died on September 16, 1916 while serving in the King's Liverpool Regiment during the infamous First World War battle in which more than a million men were killed or wounded.

Buried at the Guards' Cemetery at Lesboeufs in France, Robert is thought to have been the person on whom the figure of a soldier on the memorial was modelled.

His nephew, also called Robert, and his great-great nephew, James Palmer, 29 visited the memorial to pay their respects.

Academy's magnificent seven!

THE Inspire Taekwondo Academy in Skelmersdale played host to the UK Taekwondo Development Council's black belt promotion test this month.

The grading attracted candidates from around the country, including Blackpool, St Helens, Warrington and Lincoln, as well as the hosts.

The Inspire Academy's senior instructor, Master Nigel Hudson 7th Degree black belt was a grading panel member, along with GM Craig Waddington, 8th degree. Both have recently returned from international courses in Korea and Austria, where they were qualified by the World Taekwondo Academy HQ as Dan grade examiners.

The Skelmersdale Inspire Academy had no less than seven candidates taking the grading - five seeking promotion to 1st Dan, one to 2nd Dan and one to 3rd Dan.

All the Inspire students performed well in all areas of the grading forms - self defence, destruction and Olympic-style sparring and the club had a 100% success rate with all passing their respective gradings.

Junior black belts were achieved by 12 year-olds Reece O'Brien and Leah Gibbons 12. Father and daughter Michael and Natalie Rowlands picked up senior black belts. Chloe Hughes gained her 1st dan with one of the best performances and scores achieved in many years. Phil Towson, from Ormskirk, gained a second degree black belt and Andrew McKay from Liverpool gained a third degree belt.

Club instructors Master Nigel Hudson and Master Nick Owen commented: "These students are a credit to the Inspire Academy. They have worked tirelessly and been committed to the training regime and thoroughly deserve their successes."

Council celebrates Silver Sunday with free event on Monday!

WEST Lancs Council is celebrating Silver Sunday by organising a free event where older people can find out more about services available to them - on Monday, October 3!.

Silver Sunday is a national celebration of older people and their contribution to communities, encouraging them to try new things, meet their neighbours and, ultimately, overcome loneliness.

Although Silver Sunday this year falls on Sunday, October 2, as part of the UK-wide scheme West Lancs Council is hosting an Older People's event the following day between 10am and 4pm at the Concourse Shopping Centre in Skelmersdale.

Councillor Terry Aldridge

Councillor Terry Aldridge, the council's cabinet member with the portfolio for older people, said: "The event is designed to showcase the services available in West Lancashire to help and support older people to live happier and healthier lives.

"So if you are an older person, or have family members who are older people, then come along as you are sure to learn some very useful information."

There will be a range of stalls at the event from organisations including the council's Home Care Link teams and Age UK Lancashire. They will be giving information about the services they provide and the council's leisure services staff will advise visitors about the Active West Lancs Scheme and ways of keeping fit and healthy.

Rally Round will also be at the Concourse to tell people about their scheme which aims to help families, friends, neighbours and volunteers give more support to a frail or vulnerable person.

And Power of Music will provide information about how they use music to help people with dementia.

Church to host parish craft day

A CRAFT, skills, and hobbies day will be held at St Michael's & All Angels Church, Higher Lane, Dalton on Saturday October 1 from 10am to 3pm to demonstrate the talents of parishioners.

One of the organisers, Maureen Bold, said: "We are fortunate in having in our congregation a team of skilled and gifted craftsmen and examples of their work can be seen both inside and outside our church. The team has modified the pews, built a music cabinet, bookshelves, flower pedestals, a votive candle stand, and new church gates.

"They also worked tremendously hard to complete the site for the new Memorial Garden, which is now completed.

"My own interest lies in hand-painted china and watercolour painting and other exhibits will include jewellery, cards, cross stitch, paintings, knitwear, art work and a home produce stall."

There is ample parking at the church and entry and refreshments are free.

Council looks at forming development company to generate income and growth

Housing and commerce projects highlight potential benefits

WEST Lancs Council chiefs are looking into the possibility of forming a new company to help them achieve their ambitions for development within the borough.

The council has been working on major projects for housing - in Firbeck - and for commerce with the Greenshoots industrial units scheme, which will be let under the name Greenwood Business Centre.

Developing these schemes has highlighted to the authority the benefits of undertaking similar projects to generate income for the council and support its priorities around being ambitious for the local economy.

And, while the council has certain specific powers under legislation, if trading is to be undertaken in the wider commercial market with a view to generating income the best way for any authority to do this is to set up a development company.

The council's cabinet has approved plans for detailed investigations into creating such a company.

Now staff will examine the advantages and disadvantages so they can advise councillors on whether it would be in the best interests of council tax payers and the authority.

Councillor Ian Moran

Other options will also be examined.

Councillor Ian Moran, leader of the council and portfolio holder for cconomic regeneration, said: "One of the council's top priorities is to be ambitious for the local economy by developing commercial and residential property.

"This would help support new and growing businesses, retain and grow jobs, increase the number of residents in the area and generate income to the council through council tax and business rates.

"Many other authorities have taken similar approaches and it would appear there may be significant benefits to the council and people who live and work in the borough.

"But we need to fully investigate whether such a body is the best way forward for the council and council tax payers."

More than 50 councils have set up their own development companies and West Lancs will consult with other local authorities as part of its investigations into the proposals.

The council can help businesses to search for land and business property of all types and offer a range of other business support, including signposting to finance; networking and events; skills and workforce solutions such as support to take on apprentices.

Police welcome tougher stance on mobile menace

Drivers using hand-held phones set to face six-point licence penalty in new crackdown

Report by Henry James

Since 2003 it has been illegal to use a hand-held mobile phone while driving

LOCAL police forces have welcomed changes in the law which will mean that people caught using a hand-held mobile while driving will receive six penalty points on their licence and a minimum £200 fine.

The changes will be brought in by the government next year follow a number of fatal accidents in which the driver was using his phone while driving.

The amended laws, which cover drivers using their mobile for calls without a hands-free kit, texting or looking at Facebook or Twitter, could see those who are caught twice for the offence facing a six-month driving ban and a £1,000 fine.

Currently the law states that people caught using a hand-held phone while driving will get three penalty points on their licence and a fine of £100.

According to police figures in 2015 more than 2,700 drivers on Merseyside were stopped for being on their mobile phones while driving.

Inspector Keith Kellett from Merseyside Police Roads Policing Unit said: "Any measure that is introduced that works towards improving the safety of motorists and pedestrians on our roads is welcomed.

"In 2015 more than 2,700 drivers on Merseyside were stopped using their mobile phones while driving, an offence which can contribute to serious road traffic collisions.

"Merseyside Police is committed to reducing the number of people killed or injured on our roads in 2016 and we are determined to target motorists who flout the law and recklessly endanger lives.

"Using a mobile phone significantly reduces your driving ability and a lack of concentration because you are using your mobile phone – whether to make a call, send a text message or check social media - can have severe consequences for yourself and others."

A spokesperson for Lancashire Police added: "Using a mobile phone while driving is extremely dangerous and can cost lives.

"It only takes a few seconds distraction from a mobile to cause a collision, which can have fatal consequences.

"If we are to reduce the number of fatalities and casualties on our roads it is vital people comply with the law.

"Hopefully the new rules may cause people to think twice before using a mobile phone behind the wheel."

Earlier this year, the RAC's Report on Motoring 2016 indicated that record numbers of people were using hand-held mobile phones while driving.

Ormskirk's 'seasonal neighbours' must show more respect to town and its residents

AND so the summer recess has ended and once again Ormskirk is besieged by students old and new.

Residents are seen to be wandering aimlessly due to sleep depravation, around the now litter-strewn town avoiding the eggs from the egg fight which seems to have a trail from the town centre up to the battlements of 'Edge Hill Castle'.

The strange breed of humans which live at the castle have the ability to escape the fortifications and head to the town making as much noise as is humanly possible, they then lurk about the drinking houses and music venues until the early hours.

Around about 3.30am, when their hosts have taken all their money, they return to the castle making even more noise than before to ward off the evil spirits which are domicile within the Victorian buildings en route.

Seriously, how much longer do we have to endure these endless term time disturbances?

When are these seasonal neighbours going to respect the town and its residents?

Ormskirk resident
(name & address supplied)

Does patient care or profit guide actions?

I WENT to see my doctor in Birleywood last August who said I needed to have an ECG appointment.

He also said the next available appointment was for September 1 at the Birleywood surgery.

He booked me in and when I got home I discovered that the appointment was with a private company called PDS Medical. I then telephoned Ormskirk Hospital and they said I could have an appointment for August 18 (six days later from my original doctor's appointment).

I went back to Birleywood to cancel the appointment with PDS Medical and while I was there I discovered Birleywood surgery was hiring out rooms for this private company.

Furthermore, I also discovered that an appointment with PDS Medical is organised for you by the doctor.

If you choose the NHS option, you have to phone up yourself to organise it. So is it patient care or profit that guides action?

And will doctors now be guided by profit rather than what is best for their patients?

Private companies must make a profit to survive so therefore it is in their interest to have more and more ill people.

I have worked and paid into the NHS for over 40 years. It is my health service, not private medical firms'.

Mr C. Carr,
Skelmersdale

Please support our wonderful Macmillan nurses

MAY I thank the Champion for reporting on the death of my 75-year-old dad, Dr A K Varma, a family doctor who served the people of Ormskirk from 1977 to 2007.

We were somewhat overwhelmed by the number of cards and letters from his former patients after your article. Quite a few of our family friends were very moved to read it. We still get letters and cards from his former patients after your article.

Statistically speaking one in three of us will be affected by cancer. That means that at some stage of your life you, or someone close to you, will need the services of the wonderful people from the Macmillan nurses. In my dad's case the Macmillan nurses and the palliative care team were wonderful. They made his last days a lot easier and they certainly eased the burden on my mother enormously.

The Macmillan nurses are doing their World's Biggest Coffee Morning event on Friday, September 30, 2016. It is my understanding that on this day they raise about one tenth of their annual income.

Its my great pleasure to invite the people of Ormskirk to a 'World's Biggest Coffee Morning' event (in the name of the late Dr A K Varma) at the Feel Good Centre at 21 Knowsley Road, Ormskirk at 9.30am and going on through the day.

So please come along.

What kind of Labour Party does Rosie Cooper represent?

ROSIE Cooper has been our MP for West Lancashire for many years.

She's well-respected for her excellent support for individual constituents and organisations. She's a credit to the Labour Party and sets a high standard for representing the borough in parliament.

However, there are some grey areas in her activities, topics which are off her radar. She's not keen on getting involved with 'hot' questions.

For example, I've been unable to discover her attitude to the Iraq War of 2003 even though I've raised the matter with her personally.

So here's another question I'd like to put to her directly. We're all aware of the disorder in her party over the leadership of Jeremy Corbyn. I believe that as her constituents, we're entitled to know where she stands. (This would be a crucial matter if she decided to stand again in 2020.)

What kind of Labour Party does she represent - Corbyn's or that of his right-wing opponents in the Parliamentary Labour Party? As a member of the Green Party, I ask this question not to embarrass her but to raise a legitimate issue.

Maurice George, by email

This really does take the biscuit...

I AM amused at the correspondence from the socialist MP Rosie Cooper about high salaries and pension contributions paid to Dr John Caine from the NHS.

Is this the same Rosie Cooper who, during the MPs expenses scandal, was reported to have charged the taxpayer the cost of Kit Kats in her expenses?

She really takes the biscuit, if you'll excuse the pun.

Aughton resident, (name, address supplied)

Shoppers' safety should be centre's priority

I AGREE with the Skelmersdale resident who wrote about the Concourse being in such a mess.

I am surprised that there hasn't been an accident on the ramp leading from the market hall to the upper level, as I have to dodge mobility scooters, prams and shopping trolleys when I walk up or down the ramp in order to do my shopping.

I also think that the ladies toilets being out of action for many weeks and the walk-in elevator makes it harder for shoppers.

I agree that the Concourse should prioritise where the money is being spent before they splash out on Christmas.

Also, when it rains the cleaning staff have to place buckets all around the Concourse shopping area both downstairs and upstairs so this needs to be looked into as a matter of priority as customers have to dodge these buckets whilst shopping.

Management are behaving like politicians making promises they cannot keep.

Elizabeth Bennett, Skelmersdale resident

Long waiting lists for special needs services due to lack of funding

MY daughter who is 12 has recently been assessed as possibly being on the Autistic Spectrum. We live in West Lancashire and have now been put on a waiting list which is 45 weeks for her to have the tests to get a diagnosis.

I think schools and healthcare professionals are more aware of autism and are flagging and referring on to appropriate services, but there is a lack of funding for these, hence the long waiting lists.

New head at Tarleton Primary

THERE'S a new leader at the helm of Tarleton Community Primary School.

Chris Upton has been appointed to the role of head teacher at the Hesketh Lane school and took up his duties at the start of the new term.

Formerly at Delph Side Community Primary in Skelmersdale, Mr Upton has a background in school improvement and is particularly focussed on encouraging sport and music and developing creative learners.

He said: "At Tarleton Community Primary, we want our children to reach their academic potential but a huge priority is to equip them with the life skills they need to be successful adults and model citizens - after all, our children could be doing exciting and challenging jobs which haven't been invented yet!"

Meanwhile the school is hosting an Open Morning from 9.15 to 11.30am on Friday, November 18 when prospective parents can come and find out all about the school, and meet the head teacher, staff and current pupils.

Mr Upton added: "Parents who are considering their children starting at the school can also make an appointment for an informal conversation and a tour of the school should they not be able to attend the Open Morning."

Work starts on village housing project

...and developer pledges to invest £140,000-plus in improving surrounding area

WORK is underway on a new 48-home development in Rufford – and as part of the project, the developers are also planning to invest more than £140,000 in improvements in the local area.

Developer Jones Homes has started work on Roseacre Gardens, which was named after the farmstead that historically tended to the surrounding fields.

The scheme will comprise 34 four and five-bedroom detached family homes as well as 14 two and three-bed "affordable homes' on a two-hectare site off New Road – the first new housing development in the village for more than 20 years.

As part of the development, Jones Homes will also fund more than £140,000 towards improvement projects, including £97,000 for improvements to nearby public open spaces, £30,000 towards road junction improvements at the junction of Holmeswood Road and New Road, and £16,000 towards the upgrading of nearby bus-stops.

John Roocroft from Jones Homes said: "We are thrilled to have acquired land in Rufford for the first time. It has been a long time since there has been new build homes in Rufford, so we are proud to be changing this and enhancing the local property market.

"We are looking forward to getting started on site and introducing our brand to potential purchasers in the Rufford local area, and those from further afield looking to move to the village."

Construction at Roseacre Gardens has started with the first properties expected to be ready by early next year.

Smokers urged to sign up to Stoptober challenge

PEOPLE in West Lancashire who smoke, vape or chew in are being urged to sign up to the 28-day Stoptober challenge during October.

It has been proved that people who quit for the 28 days during Stoptober are five times more likely to give up completely.

The Quit Squad, run by Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust and funded by Lancashire County Council, says that kicking the habit can help reduce the risk of illnesses such as heart attacks, strokes and some cancers and can also significantly improve blood pressure and circulation.

Thousands of people sign up every year and succeed in making their smoking a thing of the past.

Anyone thinking of taking up the challenge this year is advised to see a Quit Squad advisor to plan their Stoptober quit.

Helen Hatcher from the Quit Squad said: "Our mission is to help as many people as possible stop smoking for good.

"Smoking is one of the biggest causes of illness and preventable death accounting for 80,000 deaths in England a year, which is why it's so important to encourage and support those who want to make a change and lead a healthier life.

" Stoptober is for anyone who smokes and there is support throughout the month. To get support, contact the Quit Squad on 0800 328 6297 and plan your Stoptober quit.

"You are four times more likely to quit with specialist help than without. The support includes the 28-day Stoptober App and text support which provide daily updates and quitting advice, detailed tools and tips for coping, as well as the encouragement and support from thousands of people all quitting together."

As part of the Stoptober campaign, the Quit Squad will also be out and about within the local community inviting residents to 'Know Your CO' by taking part in carbon monoxide (CO) screening.

Carbon monoxide is a poisonous gas which is taken into the bloodstream of smokers when they smoke, replacing some of the oxygen. This means that the heart has to work a lot harder to get oxygen around the body which causes shortness of breath, tiredness and damage to the heart.

CO screening is a non-invasive test that will be offered free of charge. It takes less than a minute to conduct and involves a simple 'blow' test with the results immediately available.

Anyone having a CO screen will be given a copy of their results and advice on how to reduce a high reading. You can access this simple test at venues across West Lancashire. Visit www.quit-squad.nhs.uk or your local pharmacy for more details.

The benefits to quitting range from a better sense of smell and taste, to breathing easier and protecting your family from second-hand smoke.

The challenge starts on Saturday, October 1.

Court Leet included in real ale group's latest Good Beer Guide

AN ORMSKIRK pub has been listed in a good beer guide for 2017.

The Court Leet in Wheatsheaf Walk has been named in the Campaign for Real Ale (CAMRA) Good Beer Guide 2017, after being nominated by members of the town's CAMRA branch.

They chose the Wetherspoon pub following regular visits to check on the quality of the real ales on offer and took into account customer service, décor and overall atmosphere. A CAMRA spokesman said: "The Court Leet deserves its place in the Good Beer Guide 2017.

"It is our belief that if a licensee serves an excellent pint of real ale, then everything else in the pub, including customer service, quality of food and atmosphere, are likely to be of an equally high standard."

The pub's manager, Lisa Newton, said: "I am delighted that The Court Leet has been recognised for the quality of its real ales by CAMRA members.

"We offer our customers an excellent range of real ales at all times, including those from regional brewers and microbrewers, as well as hosting our own beer festivals.

"Staff at the pub work hard to ensure that the real ales on offer are kept in first-class condition."

Author launches schools reading initiative

THIS year's Lancashire County Council Fantastic Book Awards have been launched by children's author Geraldine McCaughrean at the Woodlands Conference Centre in Chorley.

More than 120 teachers attended the official launch of the book awards initiative for the county's primary schools, developed by Lancashire's school library service.

The awards will run until May next year and will involve thousands of children from schools throughout the county.

The main aim of the awards is to support reading for pleasure and enjoyment by introducing newly-published fiction titles to pupils aged between nine and 11 years old pupils, and encourage them to meet and discuss them at informal book clubs.

Committed

County Councillor Marcus Johnstone, Lancashire's cabinet member for environment, planning and cultural services, said: "I think this is a tremendous initiative. Research tells us that interest in reading sadly declines considerably when children move on from primary to secondary school. "I really enjoyed reading when I was at school, and when I get time I still love nothing better than settling down with a good novel.

"We are fully committed to maintaining the high levels and standards of literacy here in Lancashire and I'll take a keen interest in who's won next May."

The Best Education for Life

Midsomer still a must-see for me - despite the flaws!

THIS week's 'Dog' is, I'm afraid, slightly whimsical, but it concerns something close to my heart, Midsomer Murders.

I have loved this TV programme for years. I even like the new Chief Inspector Barnaby, and his wife and particularly his dog. It has always been, and still is to a large extent, a nice, comfy programme in which you can immerse yourself and suspend belief in the real world.

After all, if you had a real area like Midsomer, where murders happen several times a week, national media, TV and press, would have set up a permanent camp there years ago! And DCI Barnaby would likewise have been drawing an early pension.

I can even, just about, forgive the departure of director Brian True-May. Basically the composition of each episode is still much the same, though perhaps it has developed a slightly sharper edge and the body count may have fallen slightly.

But it remains a must-see programme for me – even the repeats which seem to crop up even more regularly than repeats of the 'proper' Top Gear. If you can use the adjective gentle about a programme based on multiple murders, then Midsomer is it.

But even to one more than prepared to overlook the improbable story lines, two features of the programme have started to really irk me. One is largely confined to Midsomer Murders, the other applies to many police-based TV productions.

I just cannot understand why, apart from scenes shot in real villages or whatever town passes for Causton, any scene showing vehicles travelling along a roads is quite obviously shot on a private estate somewhere. It would appear, from watching Midsomer on telly, that there isn't an A road to be found anywhere in the area. No road is wide enough for two vehicles safely to pass, there are no road markings of any sort – though when you see a signpost you could be forgiven if you thought you had suddenly been transported to a motorway slip road!

Suddenly, on this one-track country lane, you may find a direction post to the nearest airport for instance.

In general, I really don't see why Barnaby - or any other character - cannot be shown driving along a genuine road somewhere, though I accept that if you are shown a car being driven at speed, you know there is going to be an explosion and a wrecked vehicle just around the next corner.

The other really annoying thing - though this is common to any police-based programme - is the way suspects and genuinely innocent people, react to police questioning by simply getting on with whatever he or she is doing and obviously taking little interest in the officer of the law.

I know that on the (very few) occasions when I have had 'official' contact with police officers, I have always tried to listen to what they are asking and answer politely. You don't, or I wouldn't anyway, provoke police persons by just getting on with polishing your shotgun or sorting through dodgy-looking mushrooms on the kitchen table.

As I said, part of the magic of Midsomer Murders for me is that you can easily suspend critical analysis of the plot (and the same actors who seem to turn up living in different Midsomer villages at different times). But I do not see why my credulity needs to be strained over silly things like roads which are quite obviously not public ones, and folk happily trying to ignore police persons who are trying to interview them about multiple murders.

Still, I will continue to scan the TV pages for Midsomer Murders old – and particularly the occasional new – episodes of country life, and multiple deaths in a part of the UK yet to be rediscovered.

Mayor presents awards to green-fingered gang at PALS' annual show

MAYOR of West Lancs, Councillor Liz Savage, was guest of honour when the Hesketh Bank Permaculture and Allotments Society (PALS) held their annual show and fun day at the allotments on Shore Road.

And she joined chairman of the group, David Baines to present trophies to prizewinners in the various categorie.

John Birchall was winner of best in show and allotment of the year, Ashok Ujoodha was awarded the most improved allotment accolade and Debbie Baillie was adjudged best plotholder.

Call for businesses to show more support for breastfeeding

HEALTHCARE professionals are urging West Lancs businesses to support breastfeeding in public.

Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust's infant feeding team are calling on organisations to recognise babies' right to be breastfed in public.

The team is aiming to promote greater acceptance and promotion of breastfeeding in commercial and community settings with the overall goal of increasing breastfeeding rates across the whole of Lancashire.

Infant feeding co-ordinator Katie Wharton said: "Mothers do at times feel uncomfortable breastfeeding while out and about, even though many public and private venues have an open attitude to breastfeeding.

"The health benefits of breastmilk cannot be measured. It's important that people support mothers to be able to continue breastfeeding or giving breastmilk for the maximum amount of time after birth.

Lancashire Care Trust wants to make mums feel more confident about breastfeeding in public

"Public places, businesses, employers, schools and colleges are especially being encouraged to become breastfeeding friendly to reassure mothers that not only does the law support them to breastfeed their baby wherever their baby becomes hungry, but the local community do so too. This in turn supports a positive image of breastfeeding and helps promote and protect breastfeeding as the normal natural way to feed babies."

Care service earns quality commission 'outstanding' rating

THE Care Quality Commission (CQC) has given Lancashire County Council's Shared Lives service an 'Outstanding' mark.

The recognition was awarded following a recent inspection, in May and June this year.

Inspectors assessed all areas of the service and found it to be efficiently run, safe, responsive and well-led with caring staff.

Shared Lives is similar to fostering, but for adults. Carers offer a home to someone who may have a physical disability, a learning disability, or an older adult who is not able to live on their own or with their family.

The idea is that people who are being supported are able to share in family and community life by living in the carer's home.

Lancashire's Shared Lives service is the largest in the country. It supports 11% of the population of adults with a learning disability in the county.

A total of 371 people were being supported in 287 households at the time of the inspection, with 227 of those receiving long-term care.

ENTHUSIASM

County Councillor Tony Martin, Lancashire's cabinet member for adult and community services, said: "I'm pleased that the Shared Lives service has been recognised as outstanding.

"The people being cared for are welcomed by the carer's family and supported on long-term placements, and for short breaks, respite care, day care and emergency care.

"Shared Lives carers do a superb job, they are friendly and have lots of enthusiasm for the people they look after.

"Inspectors found that the service was safe and well-run with staff keeping detailed records covering medication and other health issues.

County Councillor Tony Martin

"People receiving care were also very positive about the carers and the council's Shared Lives team. Many said they were made to feel like part of the family.

"The inspectors also found that the team did an excellent job of matching people with families who have similar interests.

"There is no doubt that Shared Lives provides the best type of support for many adults. Thank-you to the staff and carers who've worked so hard to make Lancashire's Shared Lives an outstanding service."

Youth Council campaign for 'curriculum for life' to be compulsory in all schools

County education chief backs call for greater emphasis on personal, social, health and economic lessons

Report by Henry James

THE Lancashire Youth Council are calling for a compulsory 'curriculum for life' to be taught in all schools.

This would include the teaching of personal, social, health and economic education (PSHE) to help young people to manage their life and stay safe.

The teaching of PSHE isn't currently part of the National Curriculum, but is taught in schools to varying levels.

The youth council's campaign wants PHSE to become statutory and has been backed by County Councillor Matthew Tomlinson, Lancashire County Council's cabinet member for children, young people and schools.

County Councillor Tomlinson said: "Young people feel that they would really benefit from having lessons to help them to negotiate life's challenges and opportunities.

"The teaching of complex issues such as online safety may help young people to handle the modern world with more confidence. Although the advance of the Internet and the digital age offer tremendous opportunities, they also bring new pressures with them that possibly require a new way of helping young people to deal with them.

Endorsed

"Schools may be well-placed to support children and young people's development through dedicated PSHE lessons, taught by trained teachers.

"I firmly believe that PSHE, when taught well, helps to keep young people safe, mentally and physically healthy and prepared for life and work."

School surveys and research looking at the ways that PHSE is currently delivered in schools and colleges will form part of the young people's campaign. Areas of excellence will be highlighted as examples of good practice.

A curriculum pack is being developed by the Lancashire Youth Council, endorsed by the county council, which will be available to schools across the county next year. This pack would include set lesson plans and exam papers for pupils to take to check their understanding.

The Lancashire Youth Council also plan to take a look at how PSHE, and also citizenship, is taught nationally, to ensure that a consistent high standard is achieved.

Campaign progress will also be monitored by the young people, to make sure that a difference is being made.

This campaign adds momentum to the call for statutory PSHE education. 967,000 young people voted in last year's UK Youth Parliament (UKYP) campaign to choose priorities for the year ahead.

A curriculum for life and compulsory mental health education were two of the three most popular topics chosen for a debate in November 2015 in the House of Commons.

The Youth Council is supported by Lancashire County Council's Wellbeing, Prevention and Early Help Young People's Service (WPEH) and is made up of representatives from across the county. Members are drawn from the 12 District Youth Councils, the Lancashire Children in Care Council, The Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) Youth Council, Young Carers Forum, and the Rainbow Generation, a forum for lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender young people.

Late doctor's family to hold fundraiser for cancer charity

THE family of a GP from Ormskirk who passed away earlier this year after battling cancer are holding a coffee morning to raise funds for charity on Friday, September 30.

Dr Akhilesh Kumar Varma, who practised at the town's Stanley Street surgery for 30 years before retiring in 2007, passed away aged 75 in June.

Now his son, Sushant Varma is holding a Macmillan World's Biggest Coffee Morning event from 9.30am at the Feel Good Centre in Knowsley Road, Ormskirk to raise funds for the national cancer charity. All members of the community are invited to pop in to the all-day event for a slice of homemade cake and a tea or coffee.

Mr Varma said: "Statistically speaking one in three of us will be affected by cancer. That means that at some stage of your life you, or someone close to you, will need the services of the wonderful people from the Macmillan nurses. In my dad's case the Macmillan nurses and the palliative care team were wonderful. They made his last days a lot easier and they certainly eased the burden on my mother enormously.

"The Varma family all feel very strongly that we must do something to give back to the Macmillan nurses and although it's called the world's biggest coffee morning, we are running it all day and hope to raise a lot of money for them."

Chance to quiz NHS trust bosses

MEMBERS of the public are invited to the annual general meeting of Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust on Thursday, September 29.

The event will be hosted by trust chair Sue Musson and attended by members of the board, including interim chief executive Iain McInnes. After a short presentation, there will be an opportunity to meet and ask questions of the board.

The meeting will be held in the lecture theatre of the Education Centre at Ormskirk and District General Hospital, starting at 1.30pm. Light refreshments will be available from 1pm. The trust has produced an annual report which is available on their website www.southportandormskirk.nhs.uk under the 'how we are performing' section.

Alternatively, copies are available from the trust. Call 01704 704714.

City raises a glass to drink firm's success

Hot on the success of the highly regarded Liverpool Gin comes Liverpool Vodka, which was officially launched at the recent Liverpool Food & Drink Festival in Sefton Park.

A small batch potato vodka, hand-crafted in Halewood Wines & Spirits' recently-installed traditional copper still in Huyton, the artisanal vodka is inspired by the city's rich heritage and cultural tapestry.

Made with carefully selected potatoes, the premium vodka has a creamy taste with fragrant notes of freshly cracked black peppercorns, making it the ideal base for the perfect vodka martini.

Tina Connolly, brand manager, Liverpool Vodka says: "We know that Liverpool prides itself on many aspirational attributes, from football to music and fashion to culture – and now we can add spirits into the mix.

"We're delighted to be expanding the Liverpool spirits range. To be producing another product as premium as Liverpool Vodka at our distillery in Huyton is yet another testament to Liverpool's world-class status."

To celebrate the launch of Liverpool Vodka, the Champion has a 70cl bottle to give away to one lucky reader together with a 70cl bottle of the highly regarded Liverpool Gin.

To win the pair, simply answer the following question and send your entry to Liverpool Vodka Competition, The Champion, 166 Lord Street, Southport, PR90QA.

Where is Liverpool Vodka crafted?

Entries to reach us by October 5, 2016. Winner will be the sender of the first correct entry drawn after the competition's closing date. Usual competitions rules apply, editor's decision final.

Dream Bedroom winner

THE winner of the Champion/Betta Living 'Win a Dream Bedroom' competition is:- Mrs Carol Jowitt, Upton Avenue, Ainsdale. Congratulations to Carol.

Only a few weeks into the new school year and the Maharishi School in Skelmersdale looks set to continue its record of success. As the only state through school in Lancashire, Maharishi School offers an unparalleled opportunity for children to enjoy their educational career in the same school from Reception class through to Year 11.

Following the retirement of Dr Cassells, after nearly thirty years as Headteacher, the new Head Mrs Edwards is bringing her experience as an outstanding Head of Department in a large High School to the local Free School. She says "I was delighted to be appointed as Head of Maharishi School. I have long admired the work done here and intend to build on what has been achieved at the school so far. We have put together a great team of teachers and, with our proven educational methods transforming the experience of school for our pupils, I am looking really forward to my first year here."

Maharishi School already has an enviable reputation for its academic performance and pastoral care, which result from its unique system of Consciousness-based Education, which includes the simple technique of Transcendental Meditation (TM) as part of the school day. This naturally supports the development of creativity and intelligence of pupils and staff alike, helping to create a dynamic and harmonious school environment. Last week the school did even more to create harmony by taking part in Peace One Day's International Day of Peace.

About 80 staff, parents and pupils went to school early and enjoyed an outdoor yoga lesson from the science teacher Mr Marriott, followed by a group meditation in the classrooms. Scientific research has demonstrated that group practice of TM contributes to increasing balance in society, resulting in more peacefulness. After the meditation everyone enjoyed breakfast together.

A recent addition to the school's many extra-curricular activities has been the Duke of Edinburgh Award. Having been licensed as a DoE Centre last year, with the highest ratio of participants of any school in Lancashire, Maharishi School has been so impressed with the results for participating pupils that it is expanding the scheme within the school. Pupils will now be able to devote more time to it and to progress from the Bronze to the Silver award.

Adding to the existing enrichment programme, including Spanish taught by Mrs Edwards, this year Maharishi School has also started Computing and Photography Clubs, both of which offer the opportunity to take the subjects at GCSE.
Maharishi School is a great place to be. With a few places remaining in the Reception class, why not contact the school to see if there is a vacancy in your child's class, so they can go to a school which goes by the principle "We are here to enjoy"?

Month of free, fun events lined up in borough's parks and countryside

SUMMER may be over but West Lancs Council's Parks and Countryside Ranger Service have a host of fun free events lined up for October to brighten up autumn in the borough.

The programme gets underway on Saturday, October 1 when local fungi and foraging expert David Winnard and a Ranger will lead a Fungal Foray around Coronation Park, Ormskirk.

They will be searching for amazing species of fungi and plants, and hunting for some wild edibles, as well as looking out for the things to avoid.

This starts at 2pm and would-be foragers are asked to meet at the park's bowling pavilion at 1.50pm.

There's a chance to take part in the extended health walk on Monday, October 3 and enjoy a four to six-mile jaunt taking in Cheshire Lines cycle path and surrounding scenic countryside.

Meanwhile the 12-mile Burscough Wetlands Walk on Sunday, October 16 will be another fun ramble.

Anyone wishing to take part is asked to meet at Platts Lane Lake car park at 9.50am for a 10am start.

And there's a chance to 'warm up' for Halloween by carving scary pumpkins at Stanley Coronation Park, Skelmersdale on Saturday, October 29 from at 10am.

Pumpkin carving sessions are also planned for Richmond Park, Burscough, on Saturday, October 29, at 2pm and Coronation Park, Ormskirk at 2pm on Sunday, October 30.

Booking is essential for the pumpkin carving. To reserve your place call 01695 570258 or 01695 622794.

And to round off the month there will be a free Halloween extravaganza at Coronation Park, Ormskirk between 6 and 8pm on Monday, October 31.

The evening is sure to be a 'scream' with plenty of scary goings-on planned, including walks through the woods with vampires and ghosts!

'Stupendous'

There will also be a spooky costumes competition while Base Dance will perform some eerie routines to entertain the crowds.

Pumpkins from the carving sessions will be dotted around the park on the night with prizes awarded for the best three.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder for leisure, said: "We're inviting the public to come along to Coronation Park, Ormskirk for an evening of fantastic frights and stupendous screams on Halloween night.

"And there are plenty of other great free events in our parks this month, so don't miss all the fun."

Children under 16 must be accompanied by an adult at all events. People taking part are advised to wear suitable footwear and clothing for the weather and ground conditions.

For more information on the borough council leisure events visit www.westlancs.gov.uk/events.

Life's worth celebrating!

Resort's Morgan dealership now oldest in world

Report by Ollie Cowan

Left: Family, friends and colleagues at Life's Motors celebrate being the world's oldest agent for Morgan cars

Right: George Randall and son Dave.

SOUTHPORT is now home to the world's oldest Morgan motor car dealership.

Staff and customers at "Life's Motors' came together last week to celebrate the 93rd birthday of the West Street-based showroom and dealer.

Originally starting life as a motorbike dealership in 1923, Life's was founded by Southport man and company namesake Billy Life.

It took just three years for Billy to spot a niche in the market for Morgan motor cars, with the three wheeler model becoming a popular choice among speed and style aficionados.

It was then that Life's became one of the first official Morgan dealers - an enterprise that would outlast its founder and see success that nobody else could imagine, maintaining its presence in Southport town centre to this very day - with no signs of business slowing down!

By 1934 it was time for Billy Life to hit the brakes and he eventually sold the business to his protégé Gerry Hoyle.

Gerry was no stranger to Morgans nor motorbikes, having become quite an accomplished racer who took Morgans for spins in sprints and hill climbs - even trying his hand at racing along Southport's then golden sands - as most will know back in the 30's and 40's Southport beach was home to many an international land speed record.

After roaring success throughout the fifties, the business was to change hands again when Gerry decided it was time to retire and in came George Randall in 1960 to take the wheel.

More of a Morgan fanatic than a businessman, it was often joked that George bought the business simply so his order of the latest model would be delivered earlier!

A true petrol head if ever there was one! But it was not all power and full throttle ahead for Life's.

George was tasked with seeing the dealership through to what was to become a trying time for the British motor cycle industry. By the late 70's and 80's motor cycle trade and manufacturing in Britain had started to wane and across the country the strain started to show.

George made the decision to turn Life's into an exclusively car only dealership, ending what was a fifty year love affair with two wheels. But the gamble paid off and for the last 30 years Life's motors have been dedicated to selling new and used Morgan's.

Now in the proud hands of George's son Dave Randall, who bought the business from his father in 1991, Life's has been family run for 53 years and continues to enjoy huge successes in the Morgan trade.

But from humble beginnings as a garage and repair shop across the road from where the current site now stands, it has been one of Southport's longest and most successful business enterprises - outlasting the likes of Chewitts and Vulcan Motors.

Dave told The Champion: "We are now the longest established official Morgan dealer in the world - we are proud of this fact and we love what we do. A Morgan is not just a fun car but a serious sports car that has put the fun back into British motoring."

FURNISHING THE NORTH WEST FOR 33 YEARS

Former nurse Gail appointed to Lancashire Healthwatch board

A QUALIFIED nurse from Ormskirk is one of three new non-executive directors appointed by Healthwatch Lancashire.

Gail Godson trained locally in Lancashire as a nurse, and has more than 35 years of experience in the health care service, primarily within the NHS as a clinician and senior manager.

In 2012 Gail and her husband opened a new care company, Home Instead Senior Care West Lancashire & Chorley, determined to make a difference locally, offering high-quality care services based around tailored care plans, respect and dignity.

Mike Wedgworth, chair of Healthwatch Lancashire, said: "We are delighted to have appointed three new board members with a vast amount of experience.

"The skills they will add to the board will assist Healthwatch Lancashire to fulfil its role as the public voice for health and social care in Lancashire.

"The Healthwatch Lancashire board of directors is deeply committed to improving services in the county and ensuring that people's voices are not only heard, but that they can influence improvements within health and social care services."

Beer, Food and Wine Festival goes down a treat

VISITORS flocked to the second annual three-day Ormskirk Beer, Food and Wine Festival at the weekend.

Mayor of West Lancs, Councillor Liz Savage was among those who enjoyed the community event, which was run in conjunction with Ormskirk Cricket Club and aimed to showcase the best of what Ormskirk and the surrounding area has to offer.

A total of 18 local business and community groups took part in the event from Friday to Sunday, September 23 to 25.

Attractions included a food market, 60 hand-pulled real ales and live music provided by local artists, while Sunday also featured family-friendly activities such as bouncy castles, children's games and activities.

All hands to the pumps...60 hand-pulled real ale were on offer at the festival

Singing sensation Rebecca Ferguson talks about returning to her roots and her most personal album

Interview by Henry James

Rebecca Ferguson says her new album Superwoman helped her through dark times

SINGER Rebecca Ferguson is looking forward to returning to her North West roots as part of her forthcoming tour and has welcomed news of regeneration plans for the Anfield area of Liverpool where she grew up.

She also revealed how her album, Superwoman, helped her through some dark times, in an interview with Champion entertainments writer Henry James this week.

The album, her fourth studio release, is due out in October and the 30-year-old will perform a homecoming show at the Liverpool Philharmonic on Friday, November 4.

Beneficial

She says she "can't wait" to come back to the city and is also pleased to hear about plans for investment in Anfield.

"Any money which is being injected into the area has got to be a positive because ultimately it will be beneficial to the community.

"I lived there for many years, it is where I brought up the kids originally and I like to think that they are sorting it out. Every kid deserves to live in a good area.

"Liverpool is a city built on hard-working people trying to make a good life for their kids.

"It is good to hear positive stories from Anfield. The children of that area should be given the chance to grow up in a positive place where they can thrive."

Ferguson always visits Anfield to see relatives when she is in Liverpool and will also pop into the local Asda.

She expects her family will be at her Philharmonic concert.

"I can't wait to come back to Liverpool as the audiences are always good and we always have a great response.

"There is usually a few of my mates and family in the audience as well. It is always a good atmosphere and a good laugh to perform in my home city."

Memories

The performer has described Superwoman as her most personal album and it was produced during some of the hardest days of her life.

She said: "I wrote Superwoman after a dark period in my life. I found out I was pregnant and I was rejected by my child's father and my daughter was rejected by her father. I had a nervous breakdown.

"Superwoman has allowed me to tell the story in a positive way that doesn't make single mums feel isolated. It is also for people who have been through heartaches and break ups. It is about getting through what life deals you and coming out on top."

And she still follows X Factor, the show which launched her career. She finished second behind Matt Cardle in the 2010 series, and has good memories of her time on the programme.

"It was a good show and good fun. I was very grateful for all the fans and everyone who supported me.

"The show gave me the confidence I needed. I could always write and sing but I didn't always have the confidence to get it out until then."

Nature reserve all set for Apple Weekend

PREPARATIONS are well under way at the Gorse Hill Nature Reserve for this year's 'Apple Weekend' celebrations on Saturday and Sunday October 8 and 9.

Following the success of last year's event, the reserve will again be offering a variety of activities.

Demonstrations of apple pressing - where visitors can taste the freshly-produced juice - and tours of the heritage orchard will be available, along with special activities for the children and refreshments in the cafe.

There will also be opportunities to taste and buy a variety of culinary and dessert apples grown in the orchard which is part of the 85-acre reserve with woodlands and meadows, set up as a charitable trust in 1996 and developed to encourage wildlife.

The orchard has 95 apple trees, along with a few pear and plum trees and some some of the apple varieties date back to the 1700s, including Ribston Pippin, Wheeler's Russet and Isaac Newton.

The reserve, on Holly Lane, off Gaw Hill Lane, Aughton, will be open from 11am to 4pm on both days. Entry and parking is free, though donations to further the work in the orchard and reserve are always welcome.

A British Rail ways poster depicting Southport's Marine Lake - one of a number being auctioned later this year

'Golden Age' of rail posters set to go under the hammer

A COLLECTION of paintings depicting British Railways of days gone-by – including Southport – is set to go up for auction later this year.

Some of the images, which include artistic advertising posters for the resort as a dream holiday destination for families travelling the country by rail, will be put up for auction at Dreweatts & Bloomsbury Auctions' Newbury base on December 7.

Among the highlights in the collection are a number of original artworks done for the London, Midland & Scottish Railways in the 1920s, an era which has subsequently come to be known as the 'Golden Age' of the railway poster.

Paintings also depict landscapes from Bournemouth, Wales, Castle Rushen in the Isle of Man and Iona Cathedral in Scotland.

Yoga instructor launches new health and wellbeing classes

A YOGA instructor has started a range of new health and wellbeing classes in Aughton.

Tutor Pauline Whiteley is running sessions at Aughton Village Hall, Winifred Lane on Friday afternoons.

These include a cardio, strengthening and toning session from 1 to 2pm, followed by a yoga class from 2 to 3pm.

And she is also holding 'mind, body and soul' holistic yoga classes, which teach relaxation, meditation, yoga theory, body alignment and breathing techniques from 7.30 to 8.30pm on Thursday evenings at the Aughton Women's Institute Hut, Town Green Lane.

For more information or to book a session, call Pauline on 01695 424335 or 07759 093 784.

Golf club earns players' praise

ORMSKIRK Golf Club has been praised after hosting the Lancashire PGA Championship earlier this month.

The main event was a 36-holes strokeplay competition (two rounds in the day) which was won by local professional David Shacklady of the Mossock Hall Golf Club with rounds of 70 and 68.

Peter Allan, professional at Ashton-in-Makerfield, won the seniors prize with an 18-hole score of 73.

The competition was played in great weather and many of the players praised the condition of the course.

European Senior Tour 2016 Scottish Open winner Paul Eales tweeted "Thanks to Andy Duncan Lancs PGA and @ormskirkgc for a wonderful day. Another 'must-play' golf course in North West."

The event was the second half of a unique double for Ormskirk Golf Club which also hosted the Lancashire Amateur Championship in May.

Picture House announces new autumn programme

PARBOLD Picture House has released their programme of films and theatre streaming for the autumn season.

The venue is to show the film Spotlight on Sunday, October 2 at 7pm. It won an Oscar for Best Picture this year and stars Michael Keaton and Mark Ruffalo. It is about the Boston Globe's investigation into child sex abuse by Roman Catholic priests.

There will be a Front Row Screening of the Australian Ballet: The Fairy tale series: The Sleeping Beauty on Tuesday, October 4 at 7pm.

On Tuesday, October 18 at 7pm there will be a National Theatre NT Live presentation of The Threepenny Opera.

Florence Foster Jenkins can be seen on Sunday, October 16 at 7pm. It stars Meryl Streep and Hugh Grant and is the true story of the New York heiress and socialite who pursued her dream to be a great opera singer.

There is to be a screening of The Entertainer, John Osborne's classic play and starring Kenneth Brannagh on Thursday, October 27 at 7pm.

On Sunday, October 30 at 7pm people can see Eye in the Sky, which stars Helen Mirren and Alan Rickman. The film is one of Rickman's last and looks at the ethical dilemmas faced by military personnel on using drone warfare.

The film Love and Friendship can be seen on Sunday, November 13 at 7pm. The production stars Kate Beckinsale and is based on the Jane Austen novella Lady Susan.

Embrace of the Serpent can be seen on Sunday, November 27 at 7pm. The film is based on the journals to two epic journeys into the Amazon jungle, each guided by the same warrior shamen and the last of his tribe.

Kenneth Brannagh in The Entertainer

On Tuesday, November 29 at 7pm there is a front row screening of the Australian Ballet: Cinderella.

Far from the Madding Crowd is being shown on Sunday, December 11 at 7pm. This is a recent adaptation of Thomas Hardy's classic.

One of the best loved Christmas films – It's A Wonderful Life, which stars James Stewart and Donna Reed is being presented on Sunday, December 18 at 7pm.

On Sunday, January 8 at 7pm Unbroken can be seen. The film tells the story of Louis Zamparini, who was an Olympic athlete at the 1936 Berlin Games, a war hero, and also a Japanese POW. For tickets call 01257 464533.

Company promising plenty of pink in show

Based on the smash Hollywood film of the same name, it tells the story of Elle Woods, a sorority queen who enrolls at Harvard Law School to win back her ex-boyfriend. This feel-good show will have you cheering along with Elle as she defies all expectations, and proves that being true to yourself never goes out of fashion.

Featuring several show-stopping solo numbers and toe-tapping tunes that will remain in your head all evening, including: Whipped into Shape, Blood in the Water and So Much Better. The script is enhanced by the performances of the entire cast, including some side-splitting comedic turns. Maghull Musical Theatre Company pride themselves on their high production standards, which are on display here in the innovative dance numbers and direction. People can also expect some noteworthy sets, and a production jam-packed with energy, sparkles and a whole lot of pink!

Performances run from Wednesday 2 – Saturday, November 5 at 7.15pm. For advance bookings call 01695 632 372 or purchase from the Little Theatre Box Office (01704 530521) from Wednesday, October 26, 11am to 5pm.

Cilla star to appear in city

CILLA star Sheridan Smith is to reprise her hit performance as Fanny Brice at the Liverpool Empire.

Following critically acclaimed and record-breaking sold-out runs at the Menier Chocolate Factory and Savoy Theatre in London, Sheridan Smith will reprise her highly praised performance of Fanny Brice at selected venues for the UK tour of Funny Girl.

Funny Girl brought global fame to Barbra Streisand 50 years ago and boasts some of the most iconic songs in film and theatre history, including People and Don't Rain On My Parade. This musical tells the story of Fanny Brice, whose vocal talents and comedic ability see her rise from Brooklyn music hall singer to Broadway star.

Sheridan Smith reprises the role of Fanny Brice. Her other theatre work includes A Midsummer Night's Dream (Michael Grandage Company at the Noel Coward Theatre), and Hedda Gabler (Old Vic).

SERVICE DESK ADMINISTRATOR

Location- Skelmersdale

Based in Skelmersdale, Nutriculture UK Ltd is a manufacturer and wholesaler of hydroponic equipment. We are also pioneers of some of the industry's best known growing methods.

Due to on-going company expansion we currently have a vacancy in our Service Desk team. The Service Desk is a vital component in developing relationships with our customers, as they are the first point of contact that our customers have with our business. The job is entirely telephone based and the main priority is to take orders accurately and enter the order onto our system, but we try to ensure that we keep the role interesting and varied.

The successful applicant will possess the following:
- A positive and helpful approach
- Attention to detail
- Basic computer/data inputting knowledge
- Willingness to learn and take on tasks as and when required

Applicants should also know that the company often runs promotions for our customers. When we do, we ask the Service Desk to mention these promotions at the point of customers ordering. Sometimes, we carry out some outbound minor sales activity too, so applicants should be prepared to engage in this type of activity.

If you think you have the requisite skills and attitude to do the job, then please send your CV, stating your salary expectations to claire.hanson@nutriculture.co.uk

BERKLEY PETER

29th September 2014

Two lonely years today,
If I could spend another day with you it would be a dream come true,
But having to let you go again I would want to go with you,
My heart has never hurt so much,
My soul is torn in two,
My darling Pete,
I would give everything to be once more with you.
Love you forever P.
To the stars and back sweetheart.
Your broken hearted Marie

Worrying classic car safety proposals

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

SO IT'S your lucky day. You've won a free pleasure flight in a vintage aircraft over the North West – but when you arrive at the airfield things don't seem right.

The aircraft in question looks a bit rusty, there's mould sprouting from the window frames and the engines seem to splutter as she starts up. It looks like something that's been dragged out of a hedge rather than anything you'd entrust your life with.

So you ask about what safety certificate the old girl has – and sure enough, it doesn't have one. The pilot tells you it doesn't need a safety check he's done all the checks himself and everything's fine. Or rather he would, but his voice is drowned out by the propellers stuttering and spluttering. Still going to don those flying goggles, then? That's pretty much the exact position the Government wants to put me – and a few hundred thousand other car nuts – in this week. The vintage aviation buffs can bring their letters of complaint to The Champion's editor to a shuddering halt because I know their aircraft are covered by tight safety legislation, but if Whitehall has its way all cars made before 1977 won't be. That's a long list of cars for which an MoT will no longer be necessary.

A list of cars that includes my 1972 MGB GT. I'd happily give you a lift home in it because I know it's been checked over by experts in a garage at least once a year, and anything nasty they find is quickly rectified, no matter what the cost. But the idea of old cars being allowed to tootle up and down our dual carriageways and motorways with no legal safety check whatsoever is a recipe for disaster.

Sure, there are plenty of classic car owners who are fastidious, have their vehicles checked and lavish whatever attention they need, but it'll only take one accident caused by an old car with an undiagnosed fault for all hell to break loose. I've no intention of allowing my beloved MGB out onto Her Majesty's Highways without the experts giving it the once over first – but under the Government's proposals I no longer have to.

Yet there's a very real prospect that MoTs will be dropped entirely for older cars – and if you're worried about it you've barely a month to have your say. There's a consultation on the Driver and Vehicle Standards Agency's website, but it closes on November 2.

If you like your classic cars to come with the added thrill of not knowing if a tyre blowout or brake failure is imminent, then do flick through to the sports pages. But if you care about people's safety, do the right thing and have your say. Share your views at www. gov.uk/government/consultations

Linnets see red in heavy home defeat to Farsley

Burscough 0 Farsley Celtic 5

BURSCOUGH remain in the bottom two of the table after being thrashed by high-flying Farsley in a game which saw them reduced to nine men.

The Linnets had two men sent off in a feisty encounter which has left the side only separated from bottom club Goole AFC on goal difference. Farsley scored just before half-time to open the scoring but romped to victory in the second half following two red cards for Burscough players.

Burscough are due to travel to Goole this Saturday (October 1)in what could be a decisive game at the bottom of the table.

Skem rue missed chances at Sutton

Sutton Coldfield 2
Skelmersdale United 0

SKELMERSDALE were left to rue missed chances in a disappointing away defeat.

The visitors began well and should have taken the lead only for a stunning double save from home keeper Wren to keep out efforts from Chris Almond and then Ben Hodkinson from the rebound.

Sutton opened the scoring on 33 minutes. The ball was switched from right to left side by the home team and went to Jean Michel Gueyes, who crossed for Khaellem Bailey-Nicholls to side-foot home.

Sutton had most of the possession until half-time but Skelmersdale didn't allow them to generate much in the way of threat.

There was a right scramble in the Skem penalty area on 51 minutes. A wayward pass put Bailey-Nicholls in and he rounded Fearon. His shot was cleared off the line by Rob Bodie and a rebound was saved by Fearon. But significantly the move had given Sutton confidence. Lee Smith beat the Skelmersdale offside trap but his shot from an angle was rather painfully blocked by Fearon, then a Ryan Edmunds shot was saved by the keeper.

Skelmersdale countered on 63 minutes. Woolcott cleverly played to Almond who in turn put Luke Wall in on goal, but again Wren saved Sutton.

After Sutton had a goal disallowed for offside Skelmersdale started to look like they had weathered the home storm and it was a surprise when they made it 2-0 in the 79th minute. A long punt down the park seemed to be set for goalkeeper Martin Fearon, but then the bounce of the ball appeared to hold up rather than run on to an advancing Fearon. Sutton substitute Tyler Blake closed Fearon down and the keeper could only punch the ball rather than catch it, Blake blocked the ball with his shoulder and it ran straight into the net.

A minute later it could have been three, but Fearon saved at Blake's feet and the game finished 2-0.

Skem keeper Fearon can only punch the ball against Blake for Sutton's second goal.

United to face former Premier League striker

SKELMERSDALE will come up against a former Premier League striker in this weekend's match in the shape of Clinton Morrison.

The ex-Crystal Palace player is now the main man at Mickleover Sports, who travel to Stormy Corner this Saturday.

Morrison will certainly be a handful for the Skem defence, having been capped 36 times for Republic of Ireland and also having stints at Birmingham City, Coventry City and Sheffield Wednesday.

Mickleover sit seventh in the table, just four points off top place, and have already beaten Skelmersdale once this season.

Morrison has spent the last two seasons in the West Country playing for Exeter City in League Two, where he appeared against Liverpool in the FA Cup.

He wasn't playing when Mickleover defeated Skelmersdale earlier on, but will be a challenge for Tommy Lawson's central defensive partnership of Rob Bodie and Robbie McIntosh.

Bohannon, Sephton are top of the class...

IT'S that time again when we take a look at the high and lows of local players in the 2016 Liverpool & District Cricket Competition, starting this week with four local clubs in the ECB Premier Division.

Formby finished runners up to newly crowned champions Leigh, Dane Williams led the batting statistics with 625 league runs at an average of 36.76, with a highest score of 78, Tym Crawford scored 531 @ 33.19 with a highest score of 80, James Seward scored 513 @ 64.13 with a highest score of 96, Tim le Breton scored 381 @ 22.41 with a highest score of 91, Elliot Ketteringham scored 347 @ 23.13 with a highest score of 131, whilst Stephen Parry scored 336 @ 37.33 with a highest score of 64.

Gary Keedy topped the bowling charts with 54 wickets @ 16.11 (best 7-50), Stephen Parry took 41 wickets @ 12.61 (best 6-46) and Tym Crawford took 33 wickets @ 18.18 (best 5-38), whilst James Seward took 29 victims behind the stumps and Elliot Ketteringham took 8 catches in the outfield.

Ormskirk finished in third place in the table, Josh Bohannon led the scoring charts with 807 runs @ 44.83 with a highest score of 122, Andy Baybutt scored 566 @ 33.29 with a highest score of 119, Michael Jones scored 526 @ 30.94 with a highest score of 125*, whilst wicketkeeper George Lavelle scored 327 @ 27.25 with a highest score of 100*.

Scott Lees topped the bowling charts with 30 wickets @ 22.43 (best 4-15), closely followed by Josh Bohannon with 29 wickets @ 16.00 (best 7-31), whilst Lavelle took 27 victims behind the stumps and Ian Robinson and Bohannon both held on to 10 catches in the outfield.

Northern finished fourth in the table, with Liam Grey leading the run scoring charts with 526 @ 26.30 with a highest score of 73, followed by Davy Smith 512 @ 36.57 with a highest score of 93*, Stephen Lucas 491 @ 28.88 with a highest score of 103*, Stephen Cole 392 @ 24.50 with a highest score of 105, whilst skipper James Cole weighed in with 301 @ 25.08 with a highest score of 46.

Tom Sephton once again topped the wicket taking chart with 74 wickets @ 15.88 (best 7-29), followed by Ryan Maddock 34 @ 20-35 (best 4-38) and Liam Grey 23 @ 19.43 (best 4-13), with James Cole taking 35 victims behind the stumps, whilst Maddock in the outfield Maddock took 12 catches, Davy Smith 11 and Liam Grey 11.

Bootle finished in fifth place, with Michael Farrell leading the run scoring chart with 610 @ 33.89 with a highest score of 103, followed by Jackson Knight 603 @ 37.69 with a highest score of 86, Danny Davies 463 @ 28.94 with a highest of 77, whilst skipper Craig Prince scored 437 @ 27.31 with a highest score of 98.

Chris Liptrot led the way with the ball with 42 wickets @ 18.60 (best 7-44), followed by Chris Stenhouse 40 @ 17.08 (best 5-23), Greg Butterworth 29 @ 22.07 (best 4-40), Scott Butterworth 27 @ 23.48 (best 6-48) and Danny Davies 24 @ 14.04 (best 5-51), whilst Neil Williams took 22 victims behind the stumps and Jackson Knight took an incredible 22 in the outfield.

Well they were the highlights of the top division, now here are the leaders with the most ducks, Justin Snow failed to trouble the scorers on six occasions, with Danny Davies, Ian Cockbain & Ian Carroll all one behind him on five, whilst Scott Butterworth, Stephen Lucas and Ian Robinson were a further one behind on four.

Focus on Homes

A home is truly one's castle and over a lifetime, can prove our greatest source of expenditure. As with everything else, homes today respond to a very definite set of values in terms of décor, comfort and space usage.

Our Focus on Homes intends to help you discover the latest trends, which improvements will add the most value to your home and hopefully the best way to carry out these improvements.

Furnishings

Whether living on your own or with a family, your main living area is an important space. This room is where you spend most time and it is the room where you will welcome guests. With that, you need to make sure that it is well designed to make it comfortable for everyone.
Choosing furniture for your main living room can be fun and give you a sense of achievement. .
Start with the basics. Most living rooms contain a sofa, armchair, side table and coffee table. Look for these basic furniture items before adding extra pieces. What will you mostly be using the room for? This needs to be considered when buying furnishings, like the cabinet for the TV, storage or a place where you can place your drinks when you have guests.
If your living room is used as a daily family hangout, you will need sturdy, stain-resistant furniture, especially if you have young children. On the other hand, if your living room is mainly used by adults and will only entertain the occasional guest, you can choose pieces made with more delicate luxurious fabrics. Stain-resistant fabrics are especially useful if you have young children, but they might still be a good idea even if you only plan on using the space for guests since spills and stains can happen to anyone. High quality furniture can be an investment so don't just look at the design but also think about how long the furniture needs to last you. Avoid mistakes by getting samples. Ask for fabric swatches and paint cards to determine how well certain pieces and colours coordinate with one another and the room.
Pick paint colours, flooring, and finishing details that coordinate with your choice of furniture. Choose a theme for your interior. If you decide to get an eclectic look, then this gives you the freedom to mix and match furniture. If you want to achieve a modern look, then get modern pieces.
Aside from the basic furniture that a living room needs, add some dual functioning pieces like an ottoman. This can also be an additional seating area especially when you have guests, you can also add other accessories on it like throws or cushions.
Once you have your main furnishings sorted you can start adding accessories. Just a few pieces, such as an interesting painting or a glass-front cabinet to show off a collection of something can personalise the space.

Bedrooms

If there is one room that can be reflective of someone's true style, then it is the bedroom. It is also the one room that most people feel the need to make over more often than any other. So here are four looks on trend this year that can be achieved relatively simply, with many high street stores selling the right accessories, paints and furnishings for you to achieve your chosen style in no time.

PASTEL COLOURS

Pastel colours are well known to calm and enhance positive and restful moods. The palest of pinks and blues are the thing at the moment but beware as you may very quickly end up in a nursery environment if you are not careful. Rather than plump for accent walls or wallpapers, the suggestion here is to go for a plain base (cream walls) and accessorise heavily. Cushions, bedding, curtains and ornaments can be easily swapped and changed.

GREY

Grey is a constant trend this year and with over 550 shades in the Dulux charts you can take your pick. If you decide to go for grey it is best to use contrasting shades throughout the room as using just one colour tone may make your room look flat. The best thing about using grey is how great it looks when nicely lit and how easy to accessorise it is.

SCANDINAVIAN

The accent here is on textures (silks, faux furs, rugs) rather than patterns. Scandinavian décor can be a little cold but that is not necessarily true if you get it right with your textures. Floors should be wooden and warmth can be brought in with a darker shade of wood. In winter go for velvets and warm feeling fabrics in pale colours.

BOHEMIAN

A complete contrast to Scandinavia, this look has no room for pastels and delicate. Think Morocco, think heat. Layers of bright colours with blankets, rugs, curtains and lighting to make the bedroom a clashing sanctuary.

Also always opt for the best quality you can buy. A bedroom, whatever its theme, should be opulent and luxurious. Don't be afraid to open a packet and run your finger on the material before you buy... Your bedroom should be perfect for you!

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Bathrooms

A modern bathroom is one that evokes a luxury hotel, somewhere special where you can relax and unwind, get clean quickly as well as pamper yourself. Depending on the size of the room and even if your bathroom has only room for a basin and a shower you can still make something special out of it by following a few of the trends listed below.

En-suites bathrooms are a definite attractive proposition for most and there is a resurgence of single use en-suite if room and budget allows. This puts a stop to clock watching at key times when two people depend on using the same facilities. Of course, if a shower person lives with a bath person it makes life much easier. However double use en-suite are as popular as ever because of budget and space consideration, the important factor here in having facilities attached to your bedroom.

Use of natural materials are very much part of the trends we have highlighted so far in kitchens and bedrooms, with a more organic feel borne out of using stone, wood and metal. These materials are tactile and feel unique to each user which is a quality most of us are looking for in our bathrooms.

Oversized radiators and tiles are on the increase too, giving a bathroom a reinforced sense of luxury and boutique hotel. Even if your space is small, large tiles can be effective and widen the room somewhat.

Important tips are to always keep it clean and simple. The famous 'less is more' adage is never more relevant than when you think bathroom. Luxury is also in the detail with piles of clean fluffy towels, good quality lighting, good soaps and a minimum of bottles and cosmetic paraphernalia on show at all times.

Fireplaces

Making the correct choice of fireplace is one the most important steps in remodelling and decorating a room. In these times of increased insulation and central heating, its tempting to overlook the need for a fireplace – this would be a mistake! Many people see the fireplace as the focal point of the room and the right design can really enhance the look and design of your space. There are a number of key things to consider when choosing yours. With the many styles on offer, which should you go for? Should it be period, antique or contemporary? If you have an Edwardian property, you needn't feel disobliged to go for a design from that period.

OPEN FIREPLACES

HOLE-IN-THE-WALL

The is no surround or mantel, just an opening set into the wall with a fire basket to hold fuel or a gas fuelled firebed of pebbles, logs or ceramic shapes.

ALL-IN-ONES

This term is used for any style of fireplace which incorporates all the elements in its design, including firebaskets, fireback and mantel. They do not usually include hearths.

GRATES

Some Georgian and Victorian coal burning fireplaces had a cast-iron hob on either side of the grate, these were originally used for cooking.

WOOD

Wooden surrounds, particularly those made from pine are ideal for country style properties. More elaborate designs are also available in mahogany and oak. Richer dark woods are also popular.

STONE

Although stone fireplaces are most commonly thought of as ideal for traditional homes, being prominent fixtures in houses during the Georgian and Victorian eras, they are now available in a host of contemporary styles too, lending themselves well to crisp, minimalist designs.

METAL

Cast-iron fireplaces were hugely popular during the Victorian and Edwardian periods, but they are now also available highly polished to a sheen and in more contemporary designs. One of the newest trends is also for stainless-steel fire surrounds, in either a polished or brushed finish.

Kitchens

Buying a new fitted kitchen is something most of us do very rarely - with the average person purchasing a new kitchen only once in ten years. This makes it important that when we do make the commitment to upgrading or remodelling this space, it pays to plan ahead and make sure you get the best possible quality and design for your money.

Think about the space you have available. You may have your heart set on a certain layout and dream of a kitchen with a stylish central island, but if you do not have the necessary space available then you are set for disappointment.

Be realistic and work within the budget you have set. A good designer should be able to provide you with lots of appealing layouts to help make the most of both your budget and your available space.

When setting your budget and ultimately settling on a design, there are a few things you need to take into account. Will you need to make any structural changes to achieve the kitchen you desire? Which materials are you planning to use on kitchen components such as the cabinets, doors and handles as well as your worktops and flooring. Do you need to purchase appliances for your new kitchen. It pays to do some research here as well on the different models available and those that work best for you and your kitchen. Free standing oven or one that is built in? Electric, gas or induction? Washing machines, dishwashers and fridge freezers. Many of these appliances can be hidden away and are now integrated saving much needed space and also ensuring a cleaner look to your room.

Always shop around, and make sure you visit some local showrooms. There really is nothing like visiting a showroom to get a real idea of the quality and different designs available when it comes to kitchens. Try and get a number of quotes from different companies to ensure you get the very best deal. And finally, before you take the big plunge make sure everything is costed out in detail (so no nasty surprises).

Get it right and you will have a space you and the whole family can enjoy, the heart of your home for many years to come.

Blinds and Shutters

Rather than leave the windows of your home bare, why not fit made to measure blinds to your windows. Not only will these blinds instantly enhance the look of your room, they provide both privacy and protection from the sun's glare. Choose from a variety of styles including Vertical, Venetian, Wooden Venetian, Roller, and Roman Blinds. There are a vast array of colours, designs, fabrics and textures to choose from.

In the UK, shutters have seen a surge in popularity during the last decade. Previously window shutters were the domain of the few, with very few companies available who could install these, let alone measure up correctly. Today this is no longer the case with many companies available who will design and install your new shutters, rather like a double glazing company.

Shutters are a hinged cover for a door or window. They have slats to allow you to control the level of light and privacy you require in the room and make a great alternative to both curtains and blinds. There are many different styles of shutters available meaning there is likely to be something for any room. Shutters are great at insulating against noise and are also easy to maintain as they need a simple dust occasionally. This is also good for hygiene, particularly if you or your family have allergies. So for a clean, modern, luxurious look, why not think about installing these in your home.

Adding value to your home

BUILDING AN EXTENSION

An obvious benefit, adding more space to the home by either expanding a room or adding more. This can also be done across two floors enabling you to add extra bedrooms and bathrooms as families grow. Extensions however have had some poor press in the past because of the fact that they change the fabric of the building and great care must be taken at the design stage to ensure you have the correct planning permission and that the flow or the look of the building is not affected negatively. It is difficult to put a cost on an extension as they vary from home to home depending on the size but if done well, not only will this add value to your home, you will see a good return on investment.

LOFT CONVERSION

Not only will a loft conversion create additional space in the home without the need to move, research has indicated that it can increase the value of your home by as much as 20%. However, such a conversion must be a true add on and not encroach on the space you have now. You must count on spending between £15k for a small conversion and between £20 to 40k for larger ones.

BATHROOM

The bathroom is another area where buyers may have their own ideas and styles but a clean, modern, well maintained room may be money well spent. An extra bathroom (especially en suite) can add up to 6% to the value of your home and the cost of an extra bathroom can be between 2.5k to around 6k (Trade Advisor) depending on what you choose to have.

KITCHEN

The kitchen is often the first thing buyers will look to replace as they seek to put their own stamp on their new property. However, bear in mind that to most of us, the kitchen is the heart of the home and as such plays a huge role in selling the house. If you can provide a ready-made, attractive space, buyers may be willing to pay more to save themselves the hassle of arranging a new kitchen. Research by HSBC has found that a new kitchen may add at least £5,000 to a property's value.

CONSERVATORY

Under a certain size, no planning permission is required and a conservatory can add up to 5% to the value of your home. Costs will vary depending on style and size and can be anything between £4,000 and £10,000. They range from ultra modern to traditional and in the case of a possible move, try and remember that again too much individual taste is never a good idea. Also, as much as a new conservatory will provide you with an additional room, the compromise is it does mean giving up on some space. Bear this in mind particularly if your garden is already quite small.

Upgrade your home with new doors

Interior doors play a more important role in the look of your home than you might imagine. While they may seem minor in the grand scheme, they tie space together and add both detail and style to a home.

Replacing an interior door can be a good DIY project for someone who has a reasonable skill level when it comes to home improvement – but if not you may be better served to have these installed by a professional contractor.

In terms of the design and which doors to choose, let the professionals help you with this.

Replacing your front door instantly changes the look over your property, increasing its kerb appeal and providing your home with a fresh look. Along with the obvious benefits such as increased security, replacing this door can add value to your home and make it more appealing to potential buyers should you be looking to sell.
